Q. My 18-year-old son is a freshman in college. His father, a veteran, died recently, and I wonder if my son is eligible for any educational benefits. Can you give me information on this? Mrs. M.P., Long Beach.

A. Yes. College students under 23 are eligible for benefits, says John Odegard, chief of the veterans interviewing unit. Educational benefits are somewhat higher for dependents of veterans who died from service-connected injuries, Odegard says. You can file a claim at the Veterans Service Office, County Court Building, 400 W. Ocean Blvd., Long Beach, if you bring your son's birth certificate and your late husband's discharge papers.

Q. A picnic for foster children and their parents is scheduled for Sunday and we don't have any refreshments yet. We've tried to raise the money for enough soft drinks, but failed. Help! Mrs. A.L., Norwalk.

A. Relax. The picnic will be a bright one, thanks to the Friendship Party Shop, 405 Locust Ave., Long Beach, which will supply the children with balloons. Soft drinks will be donated by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., 19700 S. Figueroa St., Torrance.

Q. I work with a group which helps mentally retarded children, and we've heard of a zoo somewhere in the area where children can pet the animals. Can you tell me about it? Mrs. J.F.L., Downey.

A. Yes. The zoo is actually a farm owned by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hettings. It began as an ordinary dairy farm, but the Hettings have added monkeys, horses, deer, swans, sheep and birds throughout the years. "We'd be glad to welcome the children," says Mrs. Hettings. Write them at the farm, 6502 Orangewood Ave., Cypress, to make arrangements.

Q. A contestant in the International Beauty Congress pageant — Miss Kentucky — would like to stay here as a model. Can you tell her how to find a job? Mrs. M.C., Long Beach.

A. Yes. The beauty's height — 5 feet, 6 inches — is one inch under the normal height for high-fashion models, but there's plenty of opportunity in sportswear and television, says Sue Johnson, agent for a Los Angeles modeling agency. She suggests that the bluegrass girl call the Screen Actors Guild at 878-3030 and ask for a list of franchised agents. "She should contact an agent, show him publicity photos and a resume. They'll interview her and help her make a career choice."

Q. Can you help me find a tax expert to speak at a PTA meeting? G.W., Long Beach.

A. Sure, John Sharpe, district administrator for the California Board of Equalization, says the board will gladly send a representative to discuss sales, motor vehicle, gas, personal income and other types of taxes. He'll also bring along a bundle of pamphlets. Call Sharpe at 427-9931 to set a date and time.

Q. Can Action Line give me some information about tours conducted in Long Beach? My club is interested in points of interest in the city. R.P., Los Alamitos.

A. If you feel footloose, you can take a hike along the Seaside tour of the Long Beach Harbor. It's a self-guided tour with the help of maps and information available at the wharfinger's office, Pier A, Berth 11. If you're culturally minded, the Long Beach Art Association gallery, 800 E. Ocean, HE 5-5995, offers painting exhibits every day except Monday from 1 to 5 p.m. The Long Beach Airport will provide a guide if you'll provide the bus for a motor tour of the air facilities. Contact Jim Brady, operations supervisor of the Department of Aeronautics, HA 1-8293. Tours of the Long Beach Police Department, 400 W. Broadway, are available for groups with members 12 years or older by calling HE 6-4501. You might like to see the offices of The Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., by arranging a tour through Anne Lindsey, HE 5-1161, ext. 223.

SOUND OFF!

Recently I drove into Long Beach via the Long Beach Freeway. The ride was pleasant, but I'd like to sound off about the appalling mess of weeds that greets the commuter on the Sixth Street off-ramp. These weeds—plus some junk—are a disgrace to our city, particularly in view of the "Long Beach Beautiful" drive being conducted by the city officials. These weeds—some of them four feet high—do nothing but give a bad impression to people who are coming to Long Beach for the first time. Can't something be done? If not, the beautification program is a farce. K.M.N., Long Beach.

REACTION

I'm sad to read about accidents — some fatal — involving small, electric cars. I've read about them knocking down pedestrians and such, and I agree it's unfortunate and sometimes tragic. But I don't see why this should be reason to ban electric cars from the sidewalks. It's far too dangerous for the small vehicles to use the streets. Lots of people are killed in regular autos, but they don't ban cars. Let's be honest and admit that some people don't like old people and want to push them out of the city. Long Beach has many older people and will continue to have them. Most of the elderly need electric cars and they need to drive them where it's safe. Mrs. D.R., Long Beach.

Mideast Incident Kills 3

Border Incident Deaths Heighten Fever of War

By HAL McCLURE

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli patrol battled a four-man Syrian squad on the border Friday, heightening war fever and bringing the first deaths since the onset of the Middle East crisis.

An army spokesman in Tel Aviv said two Israelis and a Syrian were killed.

As news of this third border incident this week spread, Egypt warned the maritime nations it "will not permit any act of aggression against its territorial waters, and will take all measures necessary to secure its sovereignty."

This was Cairo's response to British and U.S. consultations on how to overcome Egypt's announced blockade of Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba, in which lies Israel's port of Elath. Israel has warned it will not tolerate a blockade indefinitely.

U.S. officials in Washington announced the United States and Britain are consulting with maritime nations on issuing a declaration for free and open passage through the gulf for all nations, including Israel. The gulf is considered the most likely place, where fighting will break out if war comes.

France, without saying it rejected the U.S.-British proposal said it was being studied.

Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson of Canada, fresh from consultations with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, announced in Ottawa that Canada would not join in the declaration but would await action by the U.N. Security Council. Wilson flew from Ottawa to Washington and plunged into talks with President Johnson on the crisis—triggered early this month by Syria's charge that Israel planned an invasion.

FRENCH PRESIDENT Charles de Gaulle, considered a friend by the Arabs, declared in a statement in Paris that "the first state which would employ arms anywhere would have neither France's approval nor its support."

Diplomats at the United Nations in New York strove to break a deadlock in the Security Council over steps to take to ease the rising tension in the Middle East. The council meets again in unusual Saturday session.

The border fighting broke out when an Israeli patrol intercepted four armed Syrians as they were returning to Syria, an Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv said.

The encounter was at Kfar Hanassi, site of a collective farm a little more than a half-mile inside Israel and five miles north of the Sea of Galilee.

After an exchange of shots, the Syrians fled across the border leaving one dead, along with a sub-machine gun, two antipersonnel mines and ammunition, the spokesman reported. One Israeli soldier also was wounded. The spokesman said the Syrians were army regulars.

PORT SAID authorities reported they had stopped the British freighter Pegu as she prepared to enter the Suez Canal from the Mediterranean.

After they had ascertained that the 5,764-ton ship's general cargo was bound for the Jordanian port of Aqaba in the gulf, she was permitted to proceed.

Rioting Rocks Boston, 300 Policemen Called

REFUSED ORDER

Army Convicts Dr. Levy

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (UPI) — Army Capt. Howard Levy, an acknowledged military misfit who opposed U.S. policy in Vietnam, was convicted Friday night of disobeying an order and making disloyal statements to Green Beret troops.

A 10-officer court-martial found him guilty on all five counts under the charges after deliberating for five hours and 40 minutes.

The 30-year-old medical officer from Brooklyn will be sentenced today. The court-martial board will hear arguments from defense attorneys before fixing punishment.

Levy's sentence could range from a minimum of a reprimand to a maximum of a dishonorable discharge and 11 years in prison. There will be an automatic appeal.

The court-martial reduced one of the counts against Levy before returning a conviction. The charge had accused the young doctor of making statements aimed at impairing military discipline. The board ruled instead that he made the statements through gross negligence without intent to create disloyalty.

However, the board held the statements could have led to disloyalty.

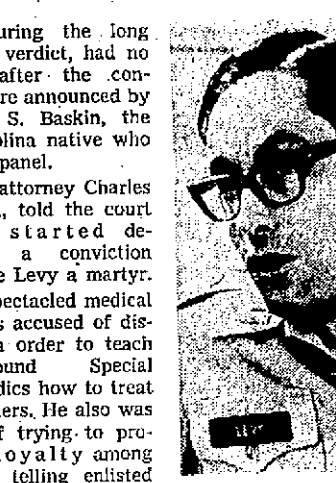

Levy, who had cracked jokes with newsmen and lawyers during the long wait for a verdict, had no comment after the convictions were announced by Col. John S. Baskin, the South Carolina native who headed the panel.

Defense attorney Charles Morgan Jr., told the court before it started deliberations a conviction could make Levy a martyr.

The bespectacled medical officer was accused of disobeying an order to teach Vietnam-bound Special Forces medics how to treat skin disorders. He also was accused of trying to promote disloyalty among troops by telling enlisted men that U.S. foreign policy

Welfare Protest Erupts

BOSTON (UPI) — A "sit-in" by a group of mothers on welfare flared into a riot in Boston's predominantly Negro Roxbury section Friday night, as police were pelted with rocks and bottles.

At least 39 persons including 22 policemen were injured, none seriously, and 24 persons were arrested. A grocery store was set afire and looted, and firemen were hampered in fighting the blaze by stone-tossing demonstrators.

As hundreds milled the streets, 300 policemen with machine guns, riot guns and bayonets patrolled the area. But by midnight, the cursing and jeering of the rioters had tapered off to an uneasy stillness.

The violence erupted when 75 policemen tried to disperse 30 women who formed a human chain to prevent 58 employees from leaving the Grove Hall welfare office.

An Episcopal priest, the Rev. James Breeden, interceded and most of the mothers heeded his appeal to allow the workers to depart.

Angry onlookers began hurling rocks and bottles from rooftops at the police, who called for reinforcements. Car windows were broken. The demonstrators tossed firecrackers and screamed obscenities.

The welfare mothers had begun their "sit-in" Thursday to dramatize what they termed the "hostile" attitude of social workers. "We're here because we're sick and tired of the way the Welfare Department is treating us," a mother said.

Mayor John F. Collins viewed the riot and described it as the "worst manifestation of disrespect of the rights of others that this city has ever seen."

"This lawlessness cannot and will not be tolerated," he said. He blamed the rioting on "troublemakers" and said race relations in Boston were "too precious" to be destroyed by a small faction of the population.

"The police have done what was expected of them," the mayor said. "They have dealt with the situation effectively."

About eight hours after the violence began, police said the crowds began to disperse.

Drivers Set Strike of Buses

One minute past midnight next Thursday was set as the strike date Friday by members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen against the Southern California Rapid Transit District system.

Unless the brotherhood agrees to a new contract before then, service to 700,000 bus passengers would be affected in Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange and Riverside counties.

The California Conciliation Service entered the dispute last Wednesday after the BRT rejected a proposed contract submitted by their negotiating committee by a 2-to-1 vote. The conciliation service has the option of calling in the governor, who can in turn appoint a fact-finding commission. This procedure could amount to a 70-day cooling-off period.

The drivers rejected a contract which would increase their present wage of $3.03 an hour to $3.45 and increase health and welfare benefits.

RAIN DANCE BRINGS ON DOWNPOUR

DULCE, N.M. (AP) — The Jicarilla Apache Indians in northern New Mexico needed rains last week for parched lands.

Bill Humphries, New Mexico Department of Game and Fish officer, said the Indians could not conduct a special rain dance for want of a horn of a bighorn ram.

Humphries located two horns.

He said Friday it has been raining in northwest New Mexico intermittently since then.

Committee Hikes Record 1967 Budget $57 Million

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Ways and Means Committee Friday increased Gov. Ronald Reagan's $5-billion budget by $57 million including boosts for the University of California, the state colleges and mental hospitals.

The action, coupled with increases approved earlier, added about $80 million to the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

A few odds and ends remain to be resolved Monday before the committee sends its version of the spending program to the lower House floor.

Meanwhile, Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, joined by a solid bloc of fellow Democrats, used a parliamentary ploy to prolong the life of a $1.5-billion tax

Operator of Crane Electrocuted

A crane operator was electrocuted Friday in Torrance when the boom on his rig touched a high power transmission line at a construction site at 1942 Artesia Blvd.

Police said Oren Lewis, 52, of 1552 Torrance Blvd. was dead on arrival at Gardena Emergency Hospital about 4:30 p.m.

Lewis, witnesses said, had parked his heavy-duty crane under transmission lines and had gotten off to check some equipment. The boom touched the line and when Lewis attempted to crawl back onto the rig, his body received the full force of the 10,000-volt charge.

Funeral arrangements were pending at Stone and Myers Mortuary, Torrance.

Some L.B. Guard, Reserves Face Cut

Local officials still are waiting details on National Guard and Army reserve reorganizations which apparently will eliminate some Long Beach and Orange County units.

A spokesman for the National Guard 40th Armored Division, Los Angeles-based formation reported due for abolition, said this would take out of existence some headquarters at the Long Beach Redondo Avenue armory.

Among attached units affected would be 1st Brigade headquarters; 4th Battalion, 160th Infantry; 40th Maintenance Battalion, and headquarters of 140th Aviation Battalion, all at the Long Beach armory, the spokesman said. There are also units at Fullerton, Santa Ana and elsewhere throughout the Southland.

REPORTED phasing out of the 49th Infantry Division of Northern California would leave no guard divisions in California. However, a source at 6th Army headquarters in San Francisco said separate infantry brigades in California would be increased from one to two, and an armored brigade would be created where none exists now.

"We are still waiting for backup information from Washington," the source said.

Washington sources said California National Guard rolls would be reduced only 374 men, from the current 22,332 down to 21,958.

A total of 1,275 Army National Guard and Army Reserve units will be wiped out during the coming year under the reorganization announced Friday by the Defense Department.

INCLUDED in the units slated for elimination are 15 Army National Guard di-

VENTURA OUTLAWS MERMAIDS

VENTURA (AP) — Ventura's street department refuses to let a phantom artist paint blue mermaids on city property.

The artist, twice-thwarted, retaliated Friday with poetry.

In place of a freshly erased buxom 8-foot mermaid which had adorned a freeway retaining wall near the entrance to the Ventura County Fair Grounds, the artist painted these words:

"Prithee, now I see that thou has taken me from my wall not from the sea... Oslo has her mermaid, pink ladies of Malibu.

"If you're so hep on keeping up, why can't we have one too?"

Bus, Car Crash, 1 Dead, 5 Hurt

NAPA (UPI) — A Greyhound bus and a car collided headon Friday on state Route 29 south of Napa during a rainstorm, killing one man and injuring five other persons.

The California Highway Patrol said the auto hit a median strip in the roadway, glanced off another vehicle and struck the bus.

The man killed was identified as Raymond Stanley Wright, 20, of Benilia.

The way some people find fault you'd think there was a reward.

Landlords Engulf Mayor Lindsay

Combined News Services

Everywhere he looked there was trouble for New York's Mayor John F. Lindsay. Then he looked over the smoggy horizon into New Jersey and found some more.

The Republican mayor hitherto had carefully refrained from singling out his neighboring state on the matter of air pollution. But after his morning helicopter hop from home to office, he said: "When I came down this morning there was a pall of smog hanging over the city and 75 to 85 percent of it coming from New Jersey. If we are going to punish ourselves, close down our incinerators, spend millions of dollars, then it's about time we had meetings with our neighbors."

In Trenton, N.J., Republican Gov. Richard J. Hughes snapped back: "I suggest to Mayor Lindsay that, should he take another helicopter flight on another day, the chances are excellent that he might very well have to level serious charges against his own city."

The New York city hall was stormed Friday by a riotous mob of 600 landlords who hurled rocks and smashed windows after a vain attempt to induce Lindsay to soften rent control laws. Two women were injured.

"We want to see our hippie mayor," a leader shouted. Lindsay refused to see them. The landlords were incensed over City Hall efforts to end a strike of building service employees in some 1,000 rent-controlled Manhattan apartment houses.

Lindsay called the violent demonstration "indecent, rude, crude and ultimately a total bore. It was a very bad show."

BILLIE SOL ESTES
Last Case Settled

NO MORE

Billie Sol Estes serves no time in addition to his present 15-year federal sentence under terms for disposition of all remaining swindling charges against him.

The one-time farm financier who built a multimillion dollar paper empire that dissolved in a whirlwind of debts, pleaded no contest to a state swindling charge this weekend and was sentenced to two to three years in prison.

Estes' sentence, however, will run concurrently with the sentence he is now serving at the Sandstone, Minn., prison.

This court session in Tyler, Tex. was much quieter and far shorter than the trials which put Estes behind bars.

Estes, much slimmer than when he was imprisoned 18 months ago, told the court, "I plead no contest."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called upon his still-vivid memories of the invasion of Europe as he dedicated a D-Day mural at the U.S. Military Academy Museum at West Point, N.Y., Friday.

Marines Kill 117
in Coast Battle

Combined News Services

SAIGON—U.S. Marines battled a regiment of Communist troops in heavy fighting along the northern coast today, and reported killing 117 in the first hours of the clash. Military spokesmen said the Leathernecks assaulted perhaps as many as 2,500 Communists in well-prepared positions in rolling hill country along the coastal plain near the Demilitarized Zone. There were no immediate reports of Marine casualties. South Vietnamese government troops reported killing 150 Communists in bitter fighting just outside the city of Quang Tri, capital of South Vietnam's northernmost province believed to be the target of Communist ambitions to capture their first major city in South Vietnam.

In the air war, U.S. jets bombed and strafed rocket positions on the southern fringes of North Vietnam Friday. Pilots Saturday reported hitting one site of nine revetted positions with a launcher in each position within easy range of U.S. border positions in the south. Other Air Force pilots hit a surface-to-air missile (SAM) site about 15 miles north of the buffer zone between the two Vietnams. North Vietnamese forces moved the SAMs south last month to counter American B52s flying almost daily raids along the northern frontier. The SAM threat has forced the high-flying American bombers to stay to the south for most of the past month.

U.S. Critics Arrested

NEW DELHI, India — Communists and leftists demonstrated Friday at U.S. Information Service centers in India, protesting American policy in Vietnam. In Trivandrum, 33 youths were arrested after they set fire to an effigy of President Johnson.

Nigeria Airlift Canceled

LAGOS—U.S. Embassy officials Friday ordered an American freighter diverted to evacuate Americans from secessionist Eastern Nigeria. An airlift was canceled at the last moment as at least 95 dependents of American workers waited at Port Harcourt airport. Two flights Saturday and one flight Sunday also had been scheduled. Hurried arrangements to get the Americans out of the East came amid mounting tension. Thousands of Eastern Nigerians fleeing to secessionist territory jammed roads for miles near the closed Niger River bridge about 275 miles east of Lagos.

Ship Explodes, Burns

The 12,838-ton West German tanker Essberger Chemist exploded and sank south of the Azores, the Portuguese naval command reported today. More than 40 crewmen were rescued from the water. In another ship mishap a fire flashed through a hold on the Norwegian freighter Thorstream Friday, killing four stevedores and injuring five others, as it was tied up at a Buffalo, N.Y., dock. The fire started when a metal drum of dry chloride powder fell from a sling and burst. The chemical turned into a deadly chlo-

Mexico Reclamation

MEXICO CITY — An $80-million program for restoring Mexicali Valley land ruined by salt deposits was announced Friday. The program is scheduled to get under way early in 1968 with half of funds provided by the federal government and the rest through a loan being negotiated with the World Bank. Much of the ruined land was made useless by saline deposits carried by contaminated waters of the Colorado River. The project calls for concrete lining of about 300 miles of canals, construction of 1,400 settling basins, 2,851 water outlets, 340 miles of roads and about 200 miles of drainage canals.

TV Must Carry
Smoker Warnings

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission Friday ordered all radio and television stations that carry cigarette advertising also to broadcast warnings of the harmful effects of cigarette smoking. Stations will not be required to match the commercials on an equal time basis with the warnings, however. The commission ruled that its long-standing doctrine requiring fair treatment of controversial issues requires stations carrying cigarette commercials to inform audiences of "the other side of this controversial issue of public importance — that however enjoyable, such smoking may be a hazard to the smoker's health."

The ruling was the first ever made by the commission extending the "fairness doctrine" to the broadcast of paid commercials. A separate rule requires that "equal time" be given to candidates for elective office, but covers only that specific situation. The commission made clear that its ruling applied, for the present at least, only to cigarette advertising. Coincidentally, Friday, three more major manufacturers, Brown & Williamson, Liggett & Myers and P. Lorillard raised the wholesale prices of most of their cigarette brands by 25 cents a thousand.

Father of 10 Executed

CANON CITY, — Luis Jose Monge died Friday night in the Colorado State Penitentiary gas chamber here with prayers on his lips and a black rosary on his wrist. The 48-year-old father of 10 children died for the 1963 murder of his pregnant wife and three of their children. Monge was the 77th man to be executed in Colorado, the second man to be executed in the U.S. this year.

$100,000 Airliner

NEW YORK — Federal authorities announced Friday the arrest of a man accused of trying to extort $100,000 from Trans World Airlines by threatening to destroy one of its airliners. Asst. U.S. Atty. Stephen E. Kaufman disclosed the arrest of Joseph Vito Grimaldi, 37, who was accused of mailing a threatening letter last April 7 and signing it "Mister Z."

Baptists OK Peace Call

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Southern Baptists adopted a softly worded statement on peace Friday after voting down two resolutions that called for all-out war in Vietnam. Winding up their four-day meeting, delegates took a stand on planned parenthood for the first time, commending "judicious use of medically approved methods of planned parenthood to those married couples who desire it." The resolution also encourages the dissemination of information on birth control.

Birth Rates Decline

WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau said Friday the Negro population has continued to grow more rapidly than the white population since 1960 although the rates of growth for both groups have declined. The proportion of Negroes in the nation's total population increased from 10.5 per cent in 1960 to 11 per cent as of last July 1. The Negro birth rate declined from 32.9 live births annually per 1,000 women in 1960 to 26.5 in 1966. The white rate declined from 22.7 to 17.5 during the same period.

ITT Merger in Doubt

WASHINGTON — The merger of International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and American Broadcasting Co. went to the Federal Communications Commission Friday for a final decision. The outcome was in doubt. The FCC, split 4-3 over the $2.4-billion merger, appeared unchanged after two days of oral arguments — the culmination of the Justice Department's forced reexamination of the largest broadcast merger in history. But, at the close of the day, Justice Department lawyer Lionel Kestenbaum indicated that the departments antitrust division may take the matter to court, if the FCC reinstates its initial approval of the merger.

Airlines Merger Approved

WASHINGTON — The Civil Aeronautics Board approved Friday the merger of Western Air Lines and Pacific Northern Airlines, effective Monday. The merged corporation will be known as Western Air Lines.

Texas Rangers Assailed

MCALLEN, Tex. — A Texas legislator accused the Texas Rangers Friday of bringing "police state" conditions to a fiery farm labor dispute in the lower Rio Grande Valley and a prominent physician said the Rangers are "just a bunch of thugs." The charge of brutality by the Rangers in their role in the year-long farm labor movement brought a denial from the Texas Department of Public Safety. Dr. Ramiro Casso, a physician, said one farm labor union member arrested by Rangers, Magdaleno Dimas, took "the worst beating I have ever seen law enforcement officers administer." The dispute centers around the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (AFL-CIO) and its attempt to bring a union contract and a $1.25 minimum wage to the valley.

5 INDICTED

Five Texas Southern University students were indicted Friday on charges of murdering a rookie policeman in a May 16-17 riot on the campus of the predominantly Negro school in Houston.

The dist. atty. told newsmen that, despite the technical language of the indictments, the students are not being accused of the actual shootings but of setting into motion the violence that led to the death and injuries.

Named in the indictments were Trazawell Franklin Jr., 20, Houston; Floyd Nichols, 25, Dallas; Charles Freeman, 18, Port Arthur; Douglas Wayne Waller, 21, Houston; and John Parker, 20, Galesburg, Ill.

OBSCENE

San Francisco Municipal Judge Lawrence S. Mana Friday set June 16 as the date for arguments to dismiss the obscenity conviction against three booksellers for their sale of "The Love Book."

At the same time the judge set June 20 for pre-sentencing reports on the sellers, Jay Thelin, Allen Cohen and Ron Muszalski, who were convicted after a five-week trial. The controversial book of poems by Leonore Kandel contain an earthy description of the art of lovemaking. The poetess was not on trial.

Miss Kandel read the 825-word poem to the Barristers Club Thursday and received a full minute of applause. "I'm pleased to see that there is no one here on the floor writhing in sexuality," she told the lawyers in reference to the jury verdict that the slim volume of poems was obscene.

WMTW-TV is located atop Mt. Washington in New Hampshire. It serves most of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and portions of New York and Quebec.

BUNNY LETTUCE

Being a bunny in a Playboy Club doesn't disqualify a girl from cashing in on her insurance, a federal judge ruled Friday in Kansas City.

Donald Eugene Mast of Saratoga, Calif., the father of Miss Dianne Marie Mast, had opposed payment of the $1,000 policy to his daughter. Mast said he took out the policy to be held in trust until she became 21, when the money was to be used for education.

Instead, Mast said, his daughter is working as a bunny at the Kansas City Playboy Club. He asked State Farm Insurance Co. pay him the money. Dianne countered by filing a petition asking that she get the money.

Reagan Budget Increased

to eliminate from mental hospital staffs.

The increase also would restore day-care mental health clinics in Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco, the geriatric screening unit in San Francisco and outpatient clinics in San Pedro, Los Angeles, Fresno, Sacramento and San Diego. Reagan has announced plans to close the facilities.

THE BUDGET addition will permit the department to maintain mental hospital staffs in the next fiscal year at the average staff-to-patient ratio of the current fiscal year. The governor's budget would have reduced the ratio to the level of July 1, 1966, the first day of the current fiscal year.

Unruh kept the tax bill alive by offering a technical amendment which the Assembly approved by a straight party-line vote of 39-37. As a result, the measure must be reprinted, delaying action on it until Monday or Tuesday at the earliest.

The parliamentary maneuvering did nothing to break the impasse between Unruh and Reagan which threatens to block the tax increase legislation needed to balance the governor's record $5 billion budget.

Reagan is adamantly opposed to payroll withholding of income tax payments. Unruh, a supporter of withholding, has so far refused to accept any other proposal.

Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto, author of the tax bill, is one of the few legislative Republicans who favor withholding. Veneman agreed Wednesday to accept Reagan's two-year installment plan as a substitute for his pay-as-you-go proposal.

But the Democrats rejected the governor's plan Thursday, plunging the bill into a stalemate.

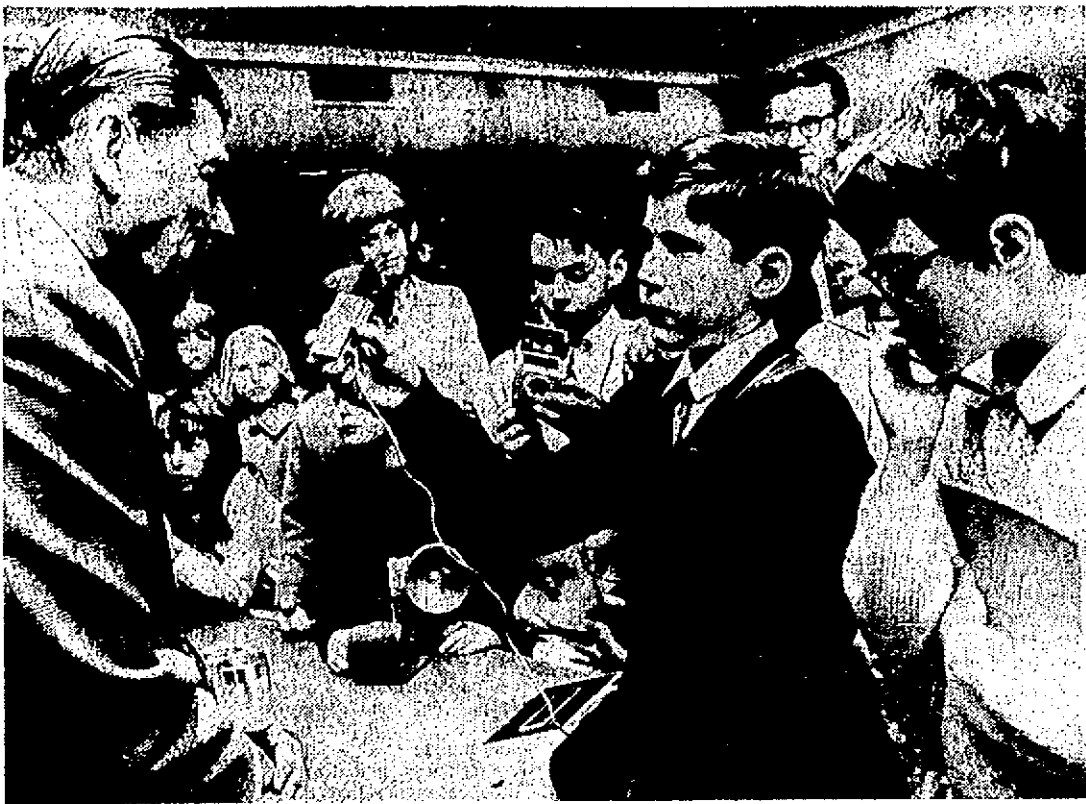

It would take 54 votes, two-thirds of the entire Assembly, to pass the measure. Veneman and his Democratic allies can't muster that many votes as long as the withholding provisions stay in the bill.

But the Democrats, who control the House by a 42-38 margin, have the strength to block any amendment which would remove withholding from the bill.

L.A. Council Shows Concern for Eilat

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The city council Friday approved a resolution expressing its concern for the city's sister city of Eilat, Israel, in view of the Middle East crisis.

The resolution, by Councilman Edmund Edelman, said, "many fine cultural, educational and economic problems between the city of Los Angeles and the City of Eilat are being placed in jeopardy."

was "a diabolical evil" and that Special Forces troops were "murderers of women and children."

Defense attorneys acknowledged he disobeyed orders, and said his medical ethics prevented Levy from teaching troops who were primarily combatants.

The defense never tried to show that Levy did not make the statements attributed to him. Instead, it insisted the remarks were protected by the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech.

Pilot Program Math Bill OK'd by Committee

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate Education Committee stamped its approval Friday on legislation establishing special pilot programs designed to upgrade the teaching of mathematics in the public schools.

The committee gave the bill by Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, "do pass" recommendation and sent it to the Finance Committee.

The program would involve the employment of specialists to teach mathematical concepts. It is based on experiments conducted in Berkeley and Richmond elementary schools in which second and third grade youngsters have been taught high school-level algebra and geometry with success.

Miller told an earlier committee hearing mathematics teaching needs to be radically improved. He cited low performance by California children on mathematics tests.

Guard, Reserve Due Cuts

visions which are now at about half strength and the last four brigades of the Army Reserve.

The rest of the units being discontinued in the shakeup starting late this summer are company-size elements.

As expected, the announcement sparked immediate criticism among some Congress members.

The Reserve Officers Association said its national executive committee will hold a special meeting today to study the plan.

In addition to announcing the reorganization, Pentagon officials:

—Repeated that "We have no intention or plan at this time to call up any reserves," either units or individuals.

—Disclosed that they are considering a change in policy under which draftees who have completed two years of active service may not be assigned to reserve units for the remaining four years of their military obligations. However, they would be subject to summer training assignments.

—Acknowledged that they have finally given up their effort to merge the National Guard and the reserves into a single backup structure for the regular forces. Congress blocked this plan two years ago.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Plans to abolish the California National Guard's 40th Armored Division and 14 others is "just plain nonsense," Maj. Gen. Charles A. Ott Jr., commander of the 40th, said Friday. Ott predicted that the nation's governors and Congress would oppose the Defense Department's plan to reorganize the guard "at least until the international situation eases."

The reorganization, the third in six years, was described as aimed at bringing about a significant improvement in the "early deployment capability and combat readiness" of the Army's reserve forces.

As Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance put it, it will mean a further sharpening of "the fighting edge of the reserve forces."

The net effect will be to produce eight National Guard combat divisions and 18 Guard brigades with a deployment readiness goal of eight weeks from callup.

Even before the plan was unveiled at a Pentagon news conference, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., announced he had made strong objections and said he will insist on a strong and ready reserve force.

Opposition also came from Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., but Rep. F. Edward Herbert, D-La. of the House Armed Services Committee said the plan had been presented to congressional leaders in what he termed "the most conciliatory and cooperative statement I have heard in years."

Measles Inoculation Clinics Closed; Nurses Will Picket

Nine weekend measles vaccination clinics were canceled Friday in the face of threatened picketing by public health nurses, but the Los Angeles County Health Department otherwise planned to go ahead with the immunization program as scheduled.

The nurses, angry over being given only a 5½ percent pay raise while other nurses received 11 per cent, said they would picket today and Sunday, though doing regular duty Thursday, Friday and Monday.

They had been asked to "volunteer" for the weekend on a compensatory time-off basis.

The nine clinics at White Front stores were canceled after the nurses said they would picket the locations, including Torrance and Downey. A health department statement said it "understands completely the position of the management" in withdrawing permission.

However the department said 105 clinics at other locations will be held through the weekend.

Dr. Gerald Heidbreder, county health officer, informed county supervisors that registered sanitarians and other employees would be brought in to man the weekend shifts.

"Each clinic will be under the direction of a physician," Dr. Heidbreder said. "No task that is to be performed is beyond the competence of the public health workers who will be present and immunization will be given with the same degree of safety and effectiveness as if the clinics were staffed with nurses."

Clinics are being held in shopping centers, playgrounds, churches and in mobile units, with the schedule 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. today, noon to 4 p.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Bandit Gets Loan With .45 Pistol

A nattily dressed man making an application for a loan at a Torrance firm Friday whipped out a .45-caliber automatic as he was being interviewed and walked away with $504, according to police.

Loan counselor Leslie Jones, of the Laurettie Finance Co., 21750 Hawthorne Blvd., told police the man ordered him into the main offices of the company where he shouted at other employees:

"This is a holdup. Give me all the bills from the cash drawer. Move fast or I'll blow your heads off."

The bandit, described as being in his late 20s with blond hair and a "good speaking voice," collected the cash and walked out the front door.

Baptist Delegate Describes 'Really Alive' Convention

By LES RODNEY

The American Baptist Convention, 1.5-million member grouping formerly known as the Northern Baptists, showed one Long Beach delegate that it was "really alive" during the recent annual meeting in Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I've been to different church conventions before," says Rev. O. C. Jones, pastor of St. John Baptist on 10th Street, "but this one really gave me the feeling it was dealing with the things it should, and wasn't just a holiday for the delegates."

Rev. and Mrs. Jones were among approximately 10,000 delegates and visitors from 46 states and Puerto Rico who met in the Pittsburgh Civic Arena.

The central thrust, he reports, was one of renewed evangelism and commitment, which in itself is not necessarily new, but in Pittsburgh was coupled with "moving out of the church and into the world."

A "listen and learn" program found groups of delegates fanning out of the Arena into various parts of the old city on the banks of the Monongahela at the invitation of various industrialists, professional people and others.

"THE IDEA was to find out what the world is saying to us and about us. To me, this was the real highlight of the convention. It was the first time many convention delegates had a real first hand chance to hear what leaders of the everyday world thought of the church."

Rev. Jones was in a group of 60 which visited a home for unwed mothers, "ages 11 to 46."

"We all came away feeling the churches are not doing enough to create the moral climate to deter this kind of tragedy."

He also traveled to Pittsburgh slum areas, where, he says, "some landlords take out big profits but do not put in the improvements they should."

"This was not a new story to me, but many of the other delegates along were quite shocked. They hadn't known about such things."

Rev. Jones came to Long Beach from San Antonio,

Texas, and comments "You might say I am not unfamiliar with poverty."

The educational trips, he amplifies, were part of an emphasis on social concern, "on becoming involved."

"The point was to create within local churches the attitude of getting out more into their own communities and seeking out ways and means of being of service in a social, political and economic way. There were practical discussions and guidelines on this."

THE OLD attitude that social concerns are none of the church's business was scarcely to be heard, he notes. "Those with such an opinion were in a small minority. Our perspective as Baptists is now larger, more far reaching in its Christianity."

As to application of these principles to the Long Beach scene:

"I believe there has been an improvement in Long Beach in this respect over the past year. For one, the Long Beach Area Council of Churches is doing a very good job in relating the church to the community."

Negro churches, he says, were better represented than ever before at an American Baptist meeting. "There were a number of Negro churches which have recently joined, some now with a dual membership, they are also members of the National Baptist Convention, the large Negro organization."

Rev. Jones sees this as a healthy development. The ideal situation in which no separate Negro Baptist grouping would be needed is not yet on the order of the day as a practical matter, and won't be for some time, he believes.

"But the trend is certainly in the direction of more brotherly relations."

AN INTERESTING addition to the agenda was a speech by a visiting national leader of the Southern Baptists. "I appreciated his remarks," the Long Beach pastor comments.

Relations between the northern and southern wings were not always conducive to such a friendly visit. One need only look back to 1950, when the American Baptists adopted their new name and stated "affirming as we adopt the name American Baptist Convention that we hold the name in trust for all Christians of like faith and mind who desire to bear witness to the historic Baptist convictions in a framework of cooperative Protestantism," which didn't sit too well at the time with the 10-million-strong Southern Baptists.

Women played a role in the deliberations at Pittsburgh. Mrs. Jones returned from her first American Baptist get-together very much impressed with the new ideas for creating more enthusiasm in church and community, Rev. Jones says. "The feeling was that church women had tended to become stagnant on new ideas, new approaches."

Closely related to these major trends was an underlying stress on the need to "go back to the New Testament concept of what the church is, what the mission of the Church of Jesus Christ is," Rev. Jones adds.

LOCAL congregation training classes on the early New Testament church were suggested to help infuse — or reinfuse — Baptists with the simplicity, oneness of purpose, fellowship and unity on what Christianity was founded.

Which is not to say that the convention took a negative approach to the work and direction of Baptists in the recent period. Just that there is always lots of room for improvement, greater dedication, and better planning for more impact on the world outside the church.

"We left the meeting," concludes Rev. Jones, "with the feeling that the church is really setting about moving into the world, instead of being in an oyster shell, with no life getting to us. The church must come alive in its community if it's going to play the role Christ intended it to."

Money to Quakers

The American Friends Service Committee reports that Justin Kaplan, winner of the 1967 Pulitzer Prize for biography for his book "Mr. Clemens and Mark Twain," has donated his prize money to the committee's work for peace, with the message:

"I wish in turn to honor the American tradition of constructive dissent. Mark Twain served so nobly, to voice my distress over the course we are following in Vietnam and to express my faith and hope that we are capable of devising positive alternatives to that course."

LITERATURE TO REPLACE MISSIONARY?

A Protestant body which carries on extensive missionary work in Africa, the Assemblies of God, has decided that Christian literature is probably "the most effective means of spreading the gospel in Africa today."

"People may not always stop to listen to a missionary preach, but you can be sure they'll stop to receive something to read," says Rev. R. Rex Jackson, who served 25 years as a missionary in Nigeria.

Rev. Jackson has been appointed coordinator of a new Assemblies of God office at Springfield, Mo., which will stimulate production and distribution of pamphlets, books and other types of Christian literature for Africa. Translations and printing will be done in Africa.

"Literature produced in Africa has the advantage of being African — no objections because of being foreign, a different race or a different color," he says.

"The intense desire of African people for something to read is almost impossible for literature-saturated Americans to understand," says the veteran missionary. "A valuable reading materials are so scarce that people literally grab at any literature offered to them. Communism is making the most of the opportunity. You can buy a Communist book or pamphlet in nearly a village in Africa. But can't always find a Christian book."

MORMONS NEXT IN 15-YEAR PERIOD

Churches of Christ Fastest Growing, Survey Discloses

United Press International

The fastest-growing major religious body in the United States is the Churches of Christ, an evangelical Protestant communion which has its greatest strength in the South and West.

Its membership increased by 135 per cent — from 1,000,000 to 2,350,000 — between 1950 and 1965 (the latest year for which comparative figures are available).

During the same period, a UPI survey showed, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon Church) registered a membership gain of 61 per cent, to make it the second fastest-growing major body.

Other fast-growing denominations were the Lutheran Church — Missouri Synod, 60 per cent; the American Lutheran Church, 58 per cent; and the Southern Baptist Convention, 58 per cent.

The average growth rate for all Protestant bodies during the 15-year span was 31 per cent.

The Roman Catholic Church showed a gain of 37 per cent.

Growth rates for other denominations were:

Episcopal Church, 35 per cent; United Presbyterian Church, 31 per cent; Lutheran Church in America, 29 per cent; National Baptist Convention, Inc. (a Negro body), 24 per cent; Methodist Church, 15 per cent; Disciples of Christ, 9 per cent; The American Christ, 8 per cent; and National Baptist Convention of America (also Negro), 1 per cent. The American Baptist Convention remained constant.

If any pattern can be discerned in the statistics, it is that the highest growth rates are found in the more conservative Protestant bodies, which place a great emphasis on personal evangelism.

Notre Dame Hosts

Ecumenical Meet

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — The University of Notre Dame will be host June 11-16 to the second annual National Faith and Order Colloquium, the National Council of Churches announced Friday.

Theologians ranging from evangelical Protestants to Roman Catholics will study evangelistic practices of various churches and will try to assess the ecumenical movement's potential as an instrument of evangelism.

The theme of the meeting will be "Evangelism in a Pluralistic Society."

Exceptions Made

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —

The Vatican said Friday, Protestants and Orthodox Christians could receive Roman Catholic sacraments under special circumstances. The Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity said a "separated brother" can receive penance, communion and the last rites if he is "in danger of death or in urgent need" and unable to reach a minister of his own faith.

CONFIDENT LIVING

Getting Mad Can Be Very Harmful

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

According to tradition: A man approached Mohammed and asked of the prophet a suggestion for spiritual benefit. "Do not get angry," Mohammed replied. Thinking the prophet had misunderstood the question the man repeated it. Again Mohammed answered, "Do not get angry."

Anger is one of the trickiest personal problems. Folklore and religious teachings of all peoples are full of warnings about its bad effects. "Anger is momentary madness," wrote the Roman poet Horace, "so control your passion or it will control you." Will Rogers cracked: "People who fly into a rage always make a bad landing." What all these people are saying is "It's bad to get mad."

Anger is the slow-burning variety, commonly known as resentment, sometimes does more damage than do fits of violent temper. Easier to conceal, oftentimes hiding in the unconscious, it is harder to come to grips with and difficult to cure. Dr. John Ellis large relates an interesting case of smoldering resentment.

George had become quite a problem to his wife. He was irritable, irascible, critical of everybody, always out of sorts. His state of mind affected his health, and he suffered from nervous tension — got so he took a dozen kinds of pills. George was not doing well in business, either, and others were being advanced ahead of him.

GEORGE'S BOSS, also concerned, told Sara that her husband was contentious, hard to get along with, downright cranky. He said, "I hope you can do something with him."

So Sara tried to get a few thoughts across to her husband. But he responded, "Get off my neck! Everybody else is on my neck. Now you've climbed on. Is that the way a wife is supposed to act?"

The troubled woman then went to see Dr. Large. "I'm in trouble. I have a real problem — my husband." And she told him how things were.

"Stop talking to him about himself," Dr. Large advised her. "Don't nag him, don't pester him. Lay off. Just love him. But that won't be enough. You husband's trouble is deep-seated. We must try to reach the disorder in his basic attitudes. What are George's sleeping habits?"

"He tosses most of the night but about five a.m. falls into a deep sound sleep."

Sara was then given what seemed strange advice. She was told to awaken at the time her husband went into deep sleep, and to work mentally and prayerfully to project creative thoughts into George's deep unconscious. In thought she was to picture this man as peaceful and free of tension; she was to visualize him as affable and friendly in his relationships. This procedure was to be followed daily until a change in the man's attitudes was noted.

So this devoted wife got herself awake at five o'clock every morning and followed direction. Weeks went by without any sign that George felt different in any way. Then one day he said, "Wonder how come everybody at the office is so much nicer than they used to be? They must have begun to realize how badly they'd been treating me."

Some weeks later the boss called George in and informed him, "I'm making you a division manager."

GEORGE WAS astonished. "But why?" he involuntarily blurted out.

"Because of the way you've changed," the boss said. "I've never seen a more remarkable change in a man. You're cooperative and agreeable. You act happy and you even seem enthusiastic. You are no longer so tense and on edge."

That evening when George told his wife the good news he added wonderingly, "God moves in a mysterious way. His wonders to perform..."

Sara merely said, "And how!"

An angry, irritable disposition can operate to rob a person of success and happiness. You cannot overcome anger by merely telling yourself that you won't be angry. Nor is it necessarily required that someone else project serene thoughts into your subconscious.

U.S. Catholic Bishops OK Changes, Hit Foot Dragging

The Roman Catholic Bishops of the United States said the use of English in the Mass, and other liturgical reforms flowing from the Vatican Council, have made worship a more vital and meaningful experience for American Catholics.

In a joint pastoral statement, the U.S. bishops acknowledged some "difficulties" in popular adjustment to the new ways, but said that "many of these are the inevitable problems of transition and growth."

They rebuked priests and laymen who, in their attachment to traditional rites, "have simply refused to embrace the renewal" or have "accepted it only externally" without really entering into its spirit.

"There is no excuse for indifference among the pastors of the flock, and we strongly urge priests — pastors and assistants, secular and religious, old and young — to fulfill our common hopes of renewal."

"The liturgical program is a positive effort of the church. It demands a willing approach, a humble openness to change on the part of all."

The bishops said that many complaints about the new liturgy "have obvious solutions."

"If a hymn is poor, there are many good hymns to be chosen; if a lector (reader of scripture) is ineffective, he should be better trained and prepared; if the manner of celebration seems awkward or inept, it should be studied and planned more carefully."

While they deplored foot-dragging, the bishops also warned against excessive enthusiasm for change which results in "privately initiated innovations."

"Unauthorized liturgical innovations are not genuine experiments," the bishops said. "They divert us from the educational work of renewal and from realizing the full potential of the present liturgy. (They also) are divisive of the Christian community."

Remarkable Growth of Converts to Christianity Told in Indonesia

NEW YORK (AP) — Church mission officials report that an amazing phenomenon is taking place in Indonesia — a suddenly swelling wave of converts to Christianity.

It is "one of the largest movements toward Christianity in modern decades," comments the denominational journal, Presbyterian Life.

In a modern era sometimes described as "post-Christian," with religious strength considered slipping in many areas, the Indonesian upsurge offers a sharp contrast.

It is "unprecedented in modern history," says Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the National Council of Churches in this country.

Although the rapid, widespread growth makes full statistics uncertain, about a quarter million new members are reported to have joined Indonesian churches in the past 18 months.

Christianity there "is demonstrating a vitality reminiscent of the earliest Christian age," says the Mennonite Builder Magazine.

Numerous other religious journals have puzzled over the situation there—something in awe.

"In some areas whole villages have accepted Christianity as their faith," notes an American Bible Society report.

The National Council, an interdenominational co-operative organization, has launched a $300,000 fund drive to help the Indonesian churches assimilate the flood of new members.

What is behind it?

Thousands of disenchanted Communists reportedly were among those seeking instruction in the faith and baptism. Stories of massive turning to the church — by some 65,000 new converts — have come out of former Communist strongholds of Central and East Java.

Rev. Addison J. Eastman, an American Baptist who directs the Asia Department of the National Council's Division of Overseas Mission says:

"From the best information available to us at this time, a great number of these new members are turning to religion in a real hope that the Christian church can provide a base from which to work for meaningful and humane social progress for the entire nation."

Evidences of the spectacular results have come from many points. Membership of the newly-formed Christian Church of South Sumatra, only 500 at its start a year ago, has swelled to 3,000. In North Sumatra's Karo land, 1,900 people were baptized at once recently, with 8,000 others receiving catechism lessons before baptism.

In West Borneo, 30 new congregations totalling 5,000 people have sprung up around the area of Pontianak. The Toradja Church in central Celebes reports 3,000 people baptized recently, and is struggling with a shortage of Bibles to supply the demand.

In Sumba and Timor and in the Lesser Sunda Islands, accounts tell of hundreds of former animists flocking to churches to hand over idols and ask for baptism. Churches in Semarang, Central Java, report memberships have doubled annually for two years.

In Djakarta, the capital, 50 Bible study groups have started, often crossing denominational lines, and composed largely of youths

FROM THE PULPIT

One of the most common faults of the modern man is his tendency to look at things from a purely materialistic point of view. He sees the world as a collection of things to be used and discarded, and he forgets that there is a spiritual dimension to life. He forgets that there is a God who is the Creator of all things, and that He is the one who gives meaning and purpose to our lives. He forgets that there is a heaven and a hell, and that our actions in this life will have consequences in the life to come. He forgets that there is a love that is greater than any love that we can know in this world, and that this love is the love of God. He forgets that there is a power that is greater than any power that we can know in this world, and that this power is the power of God. He forgets that there is a peace that is greater than any peace that we can know in this world, and that this peace is the peace of God. He forgets that there is a joy that is greater than any joy that we can know in this world, and that this joy is the joy of God. He forgets that there is a life that is greater than any life that we can know in this world, and that this life is the life of God. He forgets that there is a hope that is greater than any hope that we can know in this world, and that this hope is the hope of God. He

CONTROVERSY UNLIMITED CHURCH MISSION TO HOMOSEXUALS?

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

One sign of health in the contemporary church is its willingness to minister to people outside the pale of "normal" society. In this, the church is following the example of Jesus, who showed particular concern for outcasts.

The church in times past has tended to forget the tenderness Jesus displayed toward the grubbier fringes of humanity. Not many years ago, for example, alcoholics could expect only condemnation and ostracism from religious folk. Today, however, they are recognized as sick people who need understanding and help.

The same kind of transition, from horrified rejection to compassionate concern, is also beginning to take place in the church's attitude toward sexual deviates.

The Council on Religion and the Homosexual, founded in San Francisco in December, 1964, has been particularly active in promoting this transition.

ITS PRESIDENT, Rev. Dr. Clay Colwell, a United Church of Christ minister, says it's "ridiculous for the church to act as though it has a ministry only to heterosexuals."

"The council's view was set forth by another San Francisco clergyman, Rev. R. W. Cromey, in a recent article in a respected Episcopal magazine, The Living Church.

"The homosexual should be able to take his normal place in the life of the church, the choir, the acolytes, the vestry, church school, social action and study groups," he said. "A homosexual is no more certain a threat or danger than anyone else who attends the church and probably no more a sinner."

Both Colwell and Cromey believe that the church should simply accept homosexuals for what they are, and make no attempt to change them.

"I don't think they can be changed," Colwell said in an interview with UPI correspondent Robert Strand. "I don't think this is a matter for free choice."

THIS VIEW was disputed, however, by Canon Kenneth J. Sharp of Washington Cathedral, Washington, D.C.

He said modern psychiatry holds that most cases of homosexuality are amenable to treatment, particularly if the individual really wants to be rehabilitated.

For the church to accept sexual deviation as a "social norm," he said, would weaken the motivation of individuals to resist homosexual leanings and seek treatment. He said it also could have destructive effects on society.

"Let us not forget that by and large this is an acquired trait," he said.

"The history of homosexual practices in ancient Greece, as well as in some Teutonic tribes and Moslem countries, reveals that there is a definite relationship between the extent of practice and the degree of acceptance.

"WHEN accepted in Greek culture it inevitably led to abnormal conditioning of young boys who were selected and trained in deviate practices. They in turn later took their place in an adult society that continued to condition a succeeding generation. Individuals unquestionably were directed into the practice in the atmosphere of social acceptance which otherwise would have led normal lives. There are strong indications that this was a factor in the deterioration of some civilizations, including that of Greece."

He concluded that the church should treat homosexuals exactly as it has lately learned to treat alcoholics — neither condemning their plight as a moral lapse, nor condoning it as a way of life, but offering sympathy, understanding and help in rehabilitation.

Converis' Growth in India Told

engaged in evangelism. More than 200 conversions were reported among prisoners in Djakarta's prisons. Other teams of evangelists were traveling the countryside, holding mass meetings in towns and villages, preaching before public gatherings.

Rev. Theodore F. Romig, secretary for Asia missions of the United Presbyterian Church, says "many of the more liberal-minded Indonesians who are concerned with social justice are turning to Christianity because it more nearly expresses their belief."

Some observers think the movement has just begun, and is destined to grow even larger. In any case, the churches there are experiencing what the bulletin of the United Bible Societies calls a "period of vigorous growth on a scale and at a pace without parallel in recent times" in the entire world.

NAMED

Paul I. French, of 1064 E. First St., a cardinal of the North American Old Roman Catholic Church, has been named Paul VII, "Pope in Exile," by the sect, which broke with Rome in 1689, has membership of 89,000, with a monastery and church in Los Angeles. Despite history of rift, and differences such as permitting bishops and priests to marry, French says efforts are now being made for reconciliation with Vatican.

BRIEFLY...

Quakers and Pastors; a Chaplain's Thoughts

Among the many changes of form these days in the world of religion, one little-noted shift finds the Quakers moving closer to their fellow Protestants through the increasing use of trained pastors to lead congregations.

Traditionally Quakers have rejected what they consider clergy-dominated religion and stressed silent meditation, and the spontaneous comments of anyone feeling moved to speak.

Without giving up this emphasis, many Quaker congregations have recognized the need of specially trained ministers in the modern world. Earlham College (in Richmond, Ind.) started a graduate school of religion six years ago and is turning out men with divinity degrees to fill that need — first Quaker institution in the 300-year history of the movement to do so.

Just don't call them clergymen, please!

Contrarywise, there is evidence that other churches are moving increasingly toward the lay-orientation of the Quakers, in which, hopefully, "every man is his own priest," and all believers share ministerial obligations as channels of God's truth through an "inner light."

Dr. Wilmer A. Cooper, dean at Earlham, is not worried about the Quaker trend toward trained pastoral leadership as long as Quakers remain "on guard against a kind of professionalism that would endanger our emphasis on lay responsibility and the idea that every man has immediate access to God."

As part of a "revolution" going on throughout the Christian church, he believes "some churches are moving closer to our point of view, and in some sense, we're moving closer to the ways of mainline Protestantism."

IF ANY READERS were in Des Moines, Iowa during Billy Sunday's great seven-week revival meeting there in the summer of 1914, would they please call Les Rodney at this newspaper? In fact, we'd like to chat with anyone who has any first hand reminiscences of the fiery Billy. We have a collection of his Des Moines sermons and will be doing some articles on the fascinating Billy and that historic revival.

DR. H. DAVID Burchum, pastor at Covenant Presbyterian, is on the high seas with the USS Kearsage, serving as senior Protestant chaplain for nine days. He puts in two weeks each year as a Reserve Navy Chaplain. Before leaving he said: "I am very proud to be a Navy chaplain. While there is nothing dearer to my heart than world peace, and while I pray daily that the nations of the world, including ours, may soon turn aside from the madness of war, the fact remains that there are hundreds of thousands of men in uniform serving our beloved country who need the ministry of the Church of Jesus Christ."

IN ANNOUNCING the appointment of a Roman Catholic scholar to be visiting professor in New Testament, Dr. John C. Bennett, president of Union Theological Seminary, said:

"In inviting Professor Brown we have moved far beyond the idea of looking for a Roman Catholic scholar to make us better informed about Catholic teaching. Professor Brown is our choice as the author of a book on the Gospel of John which is hailed by Protestant and Catholic scholars alike as a remarkable scholarly achievement. He happens to be a Catholic. His coming suggests the kind of free movement between Catholic and Protestant scholars which is a state beyond 'dialogue.'"

A NEW SANCTUARY for First Methodist, at Pacific and Fifth, long under study and discussion, has been formally approved by the appropriate church bodies. Preliminary plans for a 650-700 seat edifice for the old downtown church will be submitted to the membership later this year. . . . An 800-seat Geneva Presbyterian Church is under way at Leisure World in Laguna Hills, on 3 1/2 acres commanding a sweeping view from a rise on El Toro Road.

A "SECOND chance for education" is being provided by a unique Saturday school for preachers in Winter Park, Fla., attended by Negro ministers of 10 different Protestant denominations. The interdenominational school was founded for ordained ministers without seminary or college degrees. The three-year curriculum includes English, Bible content, church history, homiletics (preaching techniques), pastoral care, comparative religion, and theology. The faculty, which serves without pay, is drawn from churches in the area, and from the staff of Rollins College.

Pacific Christian Sets Graduation Programs

Commencement week at Pacific Christian College will begin Sunday, 3 p.m. with the Baccalaureate ceremonies, in which three graduating seniors will speak on the college motto: "Holding Forth the Word of Life."

Commencement exercises will take place Friday, starting at 8 at the college, 4835 E. Anaheim St., with friends of the college invited to join the faculty and members of the graduates' families in honoring the seniors, who will all receive Bachelor of Science degrees.

Principal address of the evening will be given by Neil L. Kuns, recently installed at Central Church of Christ of San Bernardino after having served a church in Terre Haute, Ind. He was president of the Indiana Christian Men's Fellowship.

Music will be supplied by the PCC Concert Choir, under the direction of Prof.

Roger Koerner. The choir has just returned from an acclaimed tour in northern California and the Northwest.

Following the commencement exercises, everyone is invited to join the graduates in a reception in their honor tendered by the Alumni Association in the student center.

Auto Sales in May Jump Ahead of 1966

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto sales in the last 10 days of May scooted slightly ahead of sales in the same period a year earlier, putting the month's total eight per cent above May 1966, sales reports showed Friday.

The lead of May 21-31 this year over the period a year earlier was a skinny two per cent or 3,859 cars.

With giant General Motors leading the way, the sales, however continued an upward swing that has narrowed to 13 per cent the gap between the sluggish sales so far this year and sales at the same point in 1966.

TELLS RACIAL SLAMS

'Ham' Denies He Jammed GI Calls

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An amateur radio operator Friday denied allegations that he jammed calls from wounded American servicemen in Vietnam to their families in the United States.

James L. Brantley, a Negro, told newsmen that other ham operators had made derogatory remarks to him about his race when he tried to get on the air.

Brantley added that if the Federal Communications Commission had any evidence against him for deliberately jamming other messages it would have taken action but it hadn't.

The FCC's local engineer in charge, J. Lee Smith, was unavailable for comment, although he previously was quoted as saying the case was under investigation. Others in the FCC office refused to comment.

Military officials recently complained that a ham from the Watts area of Los Angeles deliberately jammed calls made by wounded troops aboard the U.S. hospital ship Sanctuary off the Vietnamese coast.

Brantley made his comments shortly after he was released from county jail where he served a five-day sentence for driving with an improper driver's license.

Cigarette Price Hike Spreads

NEW YORK (AP) — An increase in the wholesale price of cigarettes became more or less general Friday as most of the major tobacco companies announced they were following American Tobacco Co.'s lead in raising prices by 25 cents per thousand.

Such increases generally are passed on to the consumer, but there was no immediate indication how soon retail prices would be hiked, or by how much.

P. Lorillard Co. late Friday announced it would increase prices. Earlier R. J. Reynolds, Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co. and Liggett & Myers, announced price increases.

The increase would add a half-cent to the price of a pack of most brands and five cents to the price of a carton, the cigarette makers said. But they added that the hikes might be greater at the retail level.

HAPPY REUNION FOR HUMPHREY

LITTLE ENGLISH BOY Vice President Meets 'Ole Pal'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey toured a sprawling space center Friday for the first time with a surprise guest — a small British boy who gave him a shiny, American silver dollar.

The vice president, bubbling with excitement, told scores of well-wishers about the boy and the dollar and took him on a ride in an Army helicopter.

Humphrey's eyes filled with tears when he met 8-year-old David Jenner in a surprise reunion during a day-long Philadelphia visit.

The bright-faced boy, who lives near London, gave Humphrey his only shiny, American silver dollar when the vice president recently visited the lad's housing project during a European tour.

DAVID SAID he was poor and wanted Humphrey to see that some poor boy in America got the coin.

Producers of the Philadelphia-based Mike Douglas television show at KWTN-TV arranged for the boy and his parents to meet Humphrey for a taped appearance.

David, his father, William, 40, a chauffeur, and his wife, Kathleen, were hidden when Humphrey appeared for the program. The Jenners are from the Southwark section of London.

The boy, wearing a blue sweater, short blue pants and brown sandals, walked out after Humphrey had reviewed film highlights of his recent eight-nation European trip. One part showed David giving him the coin.

"How are you, fella," said Humphrey as he lifted the boy onto his lap.

DABBING at his tear-filled eyes with a handkerchief, he said: "You shouldn't do this to a man in public office."

David said his "auntie" had found the coin in a park. He said, with a marked English accent, that he gave it to Humphrey because "I couldn't spend it in England."

The vice president chuckled, saying he was sure British Prime Minister Harold Wilson "would be delighted to have had that dollar."

Humphrey said the coin is in his Washington office and he plans to show it to Wilson who is in Washington, then give it to a camping program for needy children.

David stayed with the Vice President and others who then visited the sprawling General Electric Co.'s Space Technology Center in suburban Valley Forge.

Orbiter 4 'Blankets' the Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lunar Orbiter 4 has completed its camera assignment and returned telephoto pictures of 99 per cent of the front face of the moon, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Friday.

NASA said the spacecraft's pictures are providing scientists with 10 times the fine resolution, or detail, of the best existing telescope views of the moon.

"For more of the area covered, this is a 100-fold increase in discernible geological details previously unknown," the agency said.

"IN CONJUNCTION with its three predecessors, Lunar Orbiter 4 has raised to more than 75 per cent the total coverage of the hidden-side features."

Launched May 4, the spacecraft is orbiting the moon at distances ranging from 1,623 miles to 3,841 miles above the surface.

Monday, engineers at NASA's Langley Research Center, Hampton, Va., will operate the spacecraft's velocity control engine long enough to lower the low point of its orbit to 60 other command will seek to miles. Three days later and reduce the high point of the orbit to 2,000 miles.

NASA said the new orbit will be similar to one planned for Lunar Orbiter 5, which is to be launched later this year.

By tracking the spacecraft in its lower orbit, engineers hope to gain new knowledge of the moon's gravity.

$1-Billion Claim in Tijuana Land

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An attorney for the heirs of a prominent California pioneer said Friday he planned to fly to Mexico City today to press the heirs' claims to much of downtown Tijuana, Mexico.

Attorney Edward Scofield said he would file "appropriate actions" to protect the right of the heirs of Agustin Olvera and to obtain an accounting of money due to them from a corporation to which the land was entrusted.

Scofield estimated the value of the land in question at $700-million to $1 billion.

Mrs. Victoria Leming, the present administrator of Olvera's estate, said the 33 Olvera heirs have received no money from the corporation's leasing of the land, including a $360,000 annual lease for Caliente Racetrack. She said the dispute over the land, the southern section of the Rancho Tijuana land grant, has prevented the closing of Olvera's estate which has been in probate since 1876.

The dispute over the land began in 1929, when the Mexican government expropriated it. In 1938, the Mexico Supreme Court declared the expropriation illegal and returned the rancho to the original owners.

However, between 1929 and 1938, the Mexican government sold thousands of pieces of the property.

To sort out this problem, a treaty was signed between the United States and Mexico forming "the American-Mexican Claims Commission," Scofield said.

The commission agreed that the original heirs of Rancho Tijuana would receive compensation for the loss of the use of the land from 1929 to 1938 and a cash settlement of $192,000 was paid, according to Mrs. Leming, a great, great-granddaughter of Olvera.

The heirs then entrusted their Tijuana land holdings to a Mexico City based corporation, "Inmuebles Californianos, S.A.," which was to lease the land for their heirs.

However, Mrs. Leming said all the heirs had received thus far from the corporation's directors were promises and no money had been paid to the heirs by the corporation.

"There is no practical way we can enforce the claims," Scofield said. "Therefore we are appealing to the two governments (Mexico and the United States) to re-establish the Mexican-American Claims Commission for the purpose of arbitrating the matter so we can get a solution so that the heirs would realize money for the value of their property."

World's Top Aerobatic Pilots in Pomona Race

Featuring some of the world's top aerobatic and racing pilots, the Pomona Valley International Air Races and Show will be held today and Sunday at Brackett Field, adjacent to the Los Angeles County Fair Grounds.

Among those appearing will be Mira Slovak, famous aircraft and hydroplane racer; Art Scholl, San Bernardino College professor and star aerobatic pilot; Clay Lacy, former F86 fighter pilot who will fly his P51 Mustang in competition, and Don Pittman, well-known aerobatic ace.

Two of the best women aerobatic pilots in the world, Margaret Ritchie and Carolyn Salisbury, will also be on hand. Mrs. Ritchie, a grandmother who learned to fly 10 years ago, won the women's national aerobatic championship at the Reno National Air Races.

The show will include appearances by 23 Marine Phantom jets and helicopters, who will open the three-hour program with a mock assault on the field, skydiving, biplane and midjet air races and many ground displays.

Proceeds will go toward establishing a permanent American Aerospace and Military Museum in the Southland. Gates open both days at 9 a.m. Flying exhibitions will be staged all day, with races and main show sections beginning at 1 p.m.

Actors to Fly in L.B. Vegas Airplane Race

Actors David Janssen and Jackie Cooper will be among entrants in the sixth Henry Ohye Trophy Air Race Sunday from Long Beach to Las Vegas.

About 20 light aircraft will participate in the handicap race, which will begin at 1 p.m. Finish line is at the North Las Vegas Air Terminal.

Originally for pilots of Japanese ancestry, the race is sponsored by the Japanese-American Aeronautical Association and Caesar's Palace and is now open to all fliers.

Placement Test

BOOK REVIEWS

TRADITIONAL CHINESE PLAYS. Translated, described and annotated by A. C. Scott. University of Wisconsin Press, $6.50.

The two plays in this book, "Ssu Lang Visits His Mother" and "The Butterfly Dream" are delightful examples of drama, under the new dispensation, to disappear from the stage of China. "Ssu Lang Visits His Mother" is a ditional Peking play with a musical basis, what is known as Chinese "opera." The satirical comedy "The Butterfly" makes woman's fickleness its theme—Verdi's assertion that "La donna e mobile."

A. C. Scott, who directs the University of Wisconsin's Asian Theater Program, is well qualified to interpret the plays and to sketch their production histories. Not only are there complete costume descriptions, but illustrations of scenes, characters and instruments.

STRANGER AND FRIEND. The Way of an Anthropologist. By Hortense Powdermaker. Norton, $6.50.

The field work of an anthropologist takes her to cultures that are Stone Age, as in New Ireland (Melanesia), to those that are "sophisticated," such as in Hollywood, Mississippi and Rhodesia have also been the scenes of Dr. Powdermaker's field experience. She is one of America's most noted anthropologists; "Copper Town," her study of Western influences on a primitive African society, told what happens when European mining interests in Northern Rhodesia absorb tribal Africans into highly complex industrial organization.

"Stranger and Friend" is a unique book, in which a scientist—who happens to be a woman—tells of 25 years' discouragements and satisfactions, in a fascinating field.

GRASSHOPPERS. By Robert E. Pfadt; illus., Wm. Eastman, Jr. and Jeanne Heitkamp. Follett, $1.

Three more Follett Beginning Science Books for ages 8 to 9 with simple, accurate texts and informative illustrations. Each is provided with a glossary of words with which children may need help, and suggestions for things to do in school and at home.

Easy instructions for mounting accompany the grasshopper book. The weather map and brief, lucid discussion of climate will interest a child in following weather forecasts.

The topography of the moon, its phases and effects on the earth are a good preface for research for a scrapbook on moon exploration.—E.P.H.

HERE'S JELLYBEAN REILLY. Pictures by Ylla; story by Crosby Bonsall. Harper & Row, $3.50.

The ape and monkey photographs of the late Ylla will be a source of fascination to the children. The accompanying patter of Jellybean Reilly, the ape, gossiping about his schoolmates of PS 4 seems to be aimed at the junior high level.—E.P.H.

Spencer Williams Defends Reagan's Mental Health Cuts

By CHARLES SUTTON

State Health and Welfare administrator Spencer Williams said Friday the Reagan Administration would like to see the state mental hospital system eventually shrivel up to the point where it becomes just a "back-up resource" to local mental health clinics.

"It's the governor's philosophy that (except for dangerous patients) it's best to keep the mentally ill in their own communities," Williams told 300 members of the Long Beach Community Welfare Council.

Williams explained that the Reagan administration believes the chances of recovery are far better in an individual's home than in a mental institution.

At the same time, he noted that the resident population of California mental hospitals had dropped from 36,207 in 1960 to 23,867 in 1967 — a fact, he added, that justified staff cuts in the system without jeopardizing the level of patient care.

Williams' comments were made in the course of a talk on the administration's approach to the operation of California's vast and growing welfare system.

Defending recent budget cuts in the system, Williams told his audience that Reagan had lived up to his campaign pledges to reduce welfare costs without impairing the quality of aid.

"The governor's philosophy is squeeze, cut and trim, but don't reduce essential services," he declared.

The state official spoke at the annual meeting of the welfare council, which earlier honored one of its long-time members — Mrs. Cora Cocks — with its first Annual Community Service Award.

Mrs. Cocks, a small but outspoken woman, and an ardent Democrat in state politics, brought a huge chuckle from her colleagues when she told Williams at the close of the meeting that "if we had a thousand more like me, you'd have a nice, quiet job as an attorney."

Williams, a lawyer, had earlier congratulated Mrs. Cocks on the award, saying:

"If we had a thousand more like you, our job (in state welfare) would be that much easier."

In his talk, Williams said California's welfare rolls were expanding all the time.

Recipients of old age security, for example, had gone from 277,000 a year ago to 287,000, he said, while the number receiving aid to the disabled had risen from 84,000 to 102,000.

COUNTY RELIEF recipients had risen in the same 12-month period from 38,000 to 43,000. Aid to the blind was "up slightly over last year." And persons on aid to families with dependent children had risen from 674,000 to 787,000.

All told, he said, there are roughly 1.3 million persons on welfare in the state.

Perhaps more alarming, he added, is the number who are eligible for relief but who aren't on the welfare rolls. "It's frightening to know how many" there are, he declared, adding with a chuckle:

"I hope they don't all show up together."

(It has been estimated that for every person on relief in the nation, there is another who meets existing eligibility requirements but who is not receiving welfare.)

OF THE 1.3 MILLION on relief in California, said Williams, only 90,000 are employable. And a large percentage of these want jobs, he added.

In fact, "the basic thing is jobs," he said.

Williams made no reference to specific job training or job placement programs the state might be planning, but praised the private job-matching efforts of Los Angeles businessman Chad McClellan's Council for Merit Employment. He also noted that the governor had appointed a Job Training and Placement Council to look into the complex job situation, adding that one of the governor's primary concerns was to see that needy people were motivated to help themselves.

Mrs. Cocks, recognized for "35 years of continuous community service."

Mayor Edwin W. Wade, who presented the award, noted that she had served as a volunteer in 18 local service organizations.

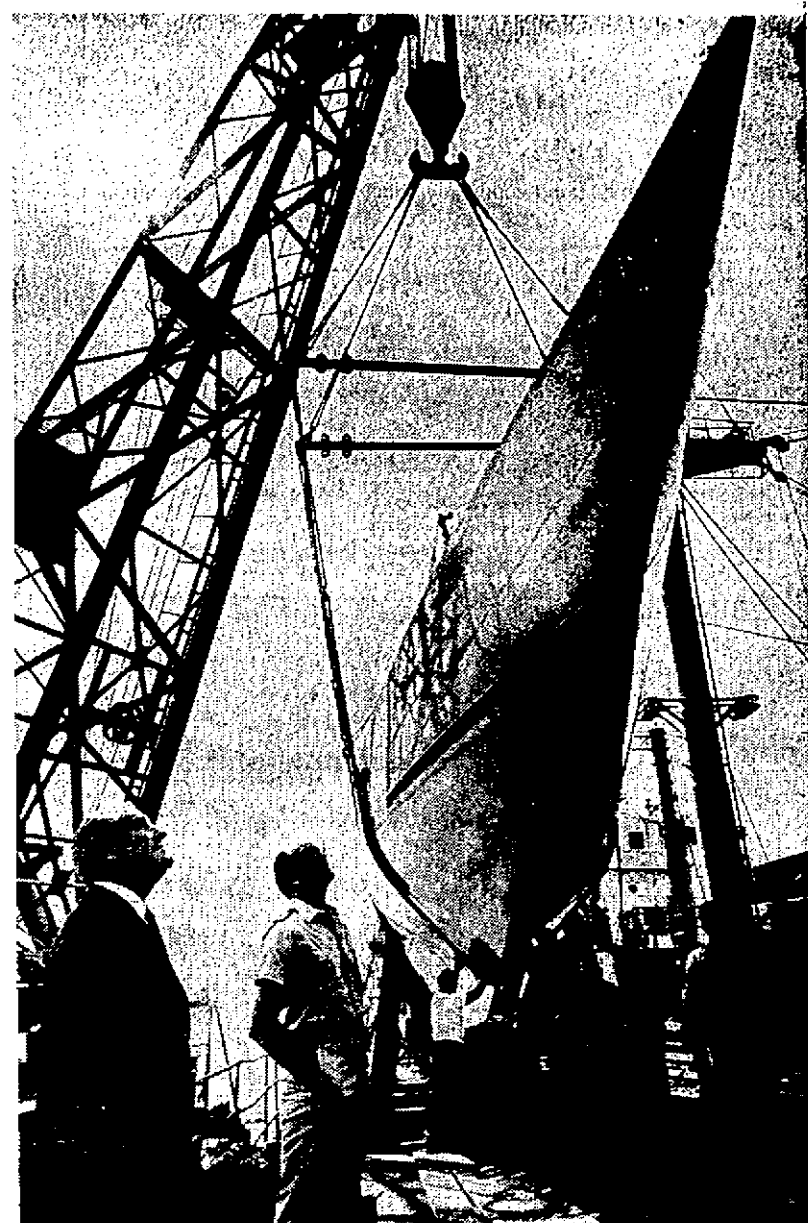

Mrs. Cocks was elected president of the council for the coming year. Other elected officials include Walter Oliver, vice president; Mrs. Eunice Sato, secretary; and Clifford Long, treasurer.

Hal Levy was re-elected chairman of the council's board of directors, while he and 28 others were named to three-year terms on the board.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

Parking Lot Fracas Nets Suspect on Many Counts

A 28-year-old man who Seal Beach police say attacked a woman in an aircraft company parking lot and stabbed a co-worker who came to her aid refused to talk to investigators Friday.

Sgt. Robert Ralston said the man had a draft card identifying him as Thomas Bradley Miles, but his address is unknown.

The suspect, booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder, armed robbery, auto theft and possession of dangerous drugs, was nabbed in Westminster by the Highway Patrol after a chase from a parking lot at the North American space facility, Seal Beach.

Detectives said the stab victim, Gary Lee Wahlenmaier, 27, of 269-A E. 56th St., Long Beach, went to the rescue of Lenore Harris, 33, of 14591 Allen St., Westminster, who was struggling with an assailant by her car in the parking lot. He was treated at Memorial Hospital for wounds in the left forearm and right armpit and released.

Southland Men Die in Viet

Three Southland men were killed in action in Vietnam, the Defense Department announced Friday. They are:

—Marine Cpl. George M. Walkinshaw, whose wife lives at 3450 Janice St., Long Beach.

Recreation Boss Bail Set

Bail for an assistant leader of a Long Beach recreation center, who was booked Friday on suspicion of possession of marijuana and robbery, has been set at $550.

Charles H. Williams, 23, of 1451 Orange Ave., Apt. 2, was suspended from his post at the California Recreation Center by City Manager John Mansell, pending disposition of his case.

Williams was arrested with James A. Farris, 23, of 916 E. 20th St., Apt. 2, a principal figure in a near riot May 1 near Poly High.

Farris currently is facing trial on a felony charge of assaulting a police officer from that incident and a misdemeanor charge of disturbing the peace from an incident three days later.

Officers spotted the two men trying to start an auto in front of Farris' apartment at 3:10 a.m. and checked the possibility that the car might be stolen.

After searching the car they said they found a .22-caliber revolver in the glove compartment and the end of what appeared to be a marijuana cigarette on the floorboard.

2 Die in Flaming Wreck

A Norwalk man and a Lynwood man died Friday in the flaming wreckage of their truck after it struck part of an overpass structure on Interstate 10 about 18 miles east of Deming, N.M.

State police identified them as Frankie A. Pavlik, of 1147 Copland Ave., Lynwood, and Harry C. Haun, of 16354 Aloha St., Norwalk.

Officers said the truck was carrying a flammable chemical.

'Human Bomb' on Probation

Michael Williams, self styled "human bomb" who was charged with trying to blow up the Long Beach Public Safety Building, was put on probation for three years Friday.

Superior Court Judge John F. McCarthy followed the probation officer recommendations in placing the 24-year-old transient on probation after he had pleaded guilty to illegal possession of explosives.

Tot Assault Arraignment

A 60-year-old truck driver, accused of hitting a small girl with his car and then striking her with his hand, Friday was held to answer in Superior Court on charges of drunken driving and assault with intent to commit great bodily harm.

Eldon J. Thibado of 1476 W. 17th St. will be arraigned in Dept. E June 16. Municipal Court Judge J. Merrill Lilley set bail for the unemployed truck driver at $2,812.

Thibado was arrested after Debbie Barndregt, 4, was hit by a car as she rode her tricycle across Redondo Avenue at Eleventh Street May 23.

WHITE TIE AND BENTLEY

Box Boys Put on the Ritz

By GEORGE LAINE

How many market box boys do you know who drive a gold 1966 Bentley Continental?

Or, if you want to get persnickety, how many bank presidents drive 'em? Now that you've finished counting the latter on the fingers of one hand, you can add one of the former — Steve Nelson, a 17-year-old Lakewood High School senior who arrived for Friday night's school prom at the Lafayette Hotel, resplendent in white tie and tails and firmly ensconced inside the prestigious vehicle.

HIS BUDDY, Mike Katich, also 17 and also a graduate, drove the long, leather-upholstered luxury car up to the front door of the Lafayette after they had taken their dates — blonde Janice Murdoch with Mike, chestnut-haired Connie Kruger with Steve — to dinner.

"It's neat," said Janice. "I never heard of a Bentley," countered Connie.

"We wanted a Rolls Royce, but this will do," said Mike, who knew the Bentley is actually a kind of Rolls.

"After 12 years in school, we figured we wanted to do something that we'd be able to remember for our lifetimes," Steve added. "This cost us plenty but we'll remember it."

What the two box boys for Von's Markets will remember best is the itemized bill for their prom night uniqueness. It figured out to $50 for the car, $20 for each tail coat (not mere white or blue dinner jackets like their other Lakewood High buddies, but real white tie and tails), an estimated $20 for each couple for dinner, "about $8" for each of the corsages bestowed on Connie and Janice, and a gas bill conservatively estimated at about $10.

Steve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Nelson of 3115 Val Verde, El Dorado Park, figures the Friday night feat ought to make a good topic for discussion when he and Mike, who lives at 5919 Loomis Ave., Lakewood, get to Long Beach City College in September.

"Nobody would believe us when we said we'd do it," Mike smiled. The pair — looking like something out of "The Big Broadcast of 1936" — moved toward the borrowed car and a night that would soon make memories.

Motorist Loses Plea for Lawyer

A motorist stopped by police does not have the right to consult an attorney for advice before submitting to a drunken driving test, a Los Angeles judge ruled Friday in a suit brought by a Long Beach man.

The decision came on the case filed by Charles Austin Finley, 58, of 5053 Gardena Ave., and conflicted directly with another Los Angeles Superior Court judgment of last month.

Judge Ralph H. Nutter said the "right to drive is not a right but a privilege, and the state has the authority to insure that people are capable of driving."

He said the Department of Motor Vehicles is engaged in civil proceedings and certain rights of criminal law do not apply.

Finley, who was arrested Feb. 24, was convicted of reckless driving and paid a fine.

Ruling on another case May 25, Judge Robert W. Kenny said a drunken driving suspect had the right to counsel as soon as he was arrested under the Sixth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

NOTS Pasadena Location Possible; City Must Yield

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON—The Defense Department Friday indicated there is still a possibility the naval ordnance test station will remain in Pasadena.

But it was made clear that a new offer by Pasadena would have to contain concessions that would reduce substantially the estimated costs of relocating NOTS in that city over the expense of putting it at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station in Orange County.

William Point, deputy assistant defense secretary for real property management, said he would "be happy" to discuss with Pasadena officials his rejection early this week of an offer by the city for 25 acres of land there. He estimated the city proposal would add between $5 and $10 million to a Los Alamitos relocation.

He said any Pasadena counter offer would have to take into account that the department is under heavy pressure both to keep down costs and to get going with construction of the expanded facility.

Point indicated that Pasadena particularly would have to greatly modify a part of its offer that calls for the department to make payments in lieu of taxes to the city for the 25 acres.

A DEPARTMENT survey has estimated at $5 million the amount it would have to pay to the city to retire revenue bonds Pasadena would float to acquire the land in an urban renewal area Point said.

He reemphasized that the Los Alamitos site is owned by the department and thus cost-free.

As things stand now, the department is planning to press for the Los Alamitos site when a House armed services subcommittee considers and $8.4-million authorization for the facility.

The subcommittee will begin hearings on the military construction bill Monday, but the NOTS matter is not expected to bob up until Navy witnesses testify late next week or the following week. The House version of the construction bill now has language restricting the new NOTS to Pasadena.

Sister City Party Wins L.B. Praise from Chile

In Valparaiso, Chile, there is a square named "Long Beach" and a new elementary school named "Long Beach."

This is an example of the basic quality of the "People to People" contact, said Victor Riosco, consul general of Chile, at the Chilean Fiesta of the Long Beach-Valparaiso Sister City Committee at the Pacific Coast Club Friday night.

Long Beach ranks high in the estimation of Valparaiso, Riosco said. He cited the friendly treatment of Chilean sailors here and the gift of a station wagon to take day patients to a hospital as two things greatly valued in that city.

"MAYOR WADE IS A GREAT ambassador of good will," he said. Mayor Edwin W. Wade spoke on his impressions of the Latin American tour he made recently. Mrs. Joyce Jacobowsky, chairman of the Sister City Committee, spoke on her experiences in Latin America. H. E. Ridings Jr., president of the Harbor Commission, gave his impressions.

"People to People," a new song by Jill and Si Miller, was presented by the International Children's Choir. The Internationals sang songs of Chile.

Guests included visitors from Argentina, Colombia, Ecuador, Nicaragua and Paraguay.

Sheriff Manpower Request Slashed

From Our L.A. Bureau

The Los Angeles County Delinquency and Crime Commission, a 10-member group appointed by the Board of Supervisors, recommended Friday that Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess solve his recruitment problems before renewing his request for 1,200 additional deputies.

The commission said, however, that an additional 100 positions should be given immediately to the department, and that if Pitchess can fill the 200 vacancies he now has, plus the 100 additional slots, then another 200 positions should be added.

RECENTLY GRANTED fringe benefits and pay increases, together with revised civil service examinations, are expected to help the sheriff attract more qualified men than he's been able to in the past, the report said.

Along with a report submitted Thursday by Chief Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger, Pitchess' department was lavishly praised for the job it has been doing of coping with rising crime.

Hollinger's report recommended the addition of 125 positions previously removed from the department's budget as an economy measure, plus the addition of 103 new positions. Public hearings on Hollinger's proposed

$1.2-billion budget will begin Friday.

The sheriff had asked that his budget be increased approximately $15 million to pay for the 1,200 additional deputies plus the fringe benefits he feels he needs to attract qualified men and keep the ones he has.

But, commission members said, "We do not believe that the taxpayers of Los Angeles County are willing at this time to add such a large sum to their tax bills."

The commission also said

Finance Office Robbed of $150

A bandit, wearing a red, white and yellow sweater, light blue trousers and sunglasses, got away with $150 from a Household Finance Company office in Anaheim Friday, police reported.

The man, armed with a snub-nosed revolver, forced an employee of the firm, located at 463 N. Loara Ave., to hand over the money around 2:47 p.m.

it could "not understand why the Sheriff's Office requests 1,200 additional men when it already has 200 unfilled jobs."

Los Angeles County has one of the highest crime rates in the nation, the report said, and the sheriff does not have enough personnel for adequate field patrol, investigation, or training of new personnel.

Recruitment, it said, seems to be the biggest problem facing the sheriff.

Burglar Robs Statue of $500

A burglar robbed a statue of $500, Long Beach police said Friday.

The statue, which sits on the living room desk of Robert H. Westerfield, 2000

Park Ave., clutched a $500 bill in its hand before the prowler visited the apartment.

Neighbors told officers the burglar entered an unlocked front door and exited carrying a bundle wrapped in a jacket under his arm.

Westerfield said a gallon jug containing more than $500 in dimes was also missing.

Ryun 2nd Best, Too— 3:53.2! USC Zips 39.6

By JOHN DIXON

Too bad Jim Ryun isn't twins. Then he would have someone to run against.

The lithe U. of Kansas sophomore with the lightning legs is the world's No. 1 miler — and today's he's No. 2, also.

Ryun took over first place in the record book with a 3:51.3 shocker one year ago. Friday he moved into second with a 3:53.2 in the feature of the Coliseum-Compton Invitational.

And the jaunty Jayhawk did it all alone. "With his 'challengers' as outclassed as a junkman's steed racing Citation, Ryun had only the clock to beat. And beat it he did.

Bob Redington, former Tennessee record holder, was assigned the unpopular ace role, and he filled it almost perfectly.

Redington led through the first quarter-mile in 57.2, with Ryun on his shoulder. Impatient Jim assumed leadership of the pack in a speedy 1:58.3 half-mile.

It wasn't a pack for long. Ryun took his foot off the brake on the backstretch, turned on the turbine and his lead reached 25 yards — which must be a world record — as he tagged the quarter-mile in 2:58.0.

An all-out last lap of 55.2 accelerated his final advantage to more than 40 yards over runnerup John Lawson (4:01.1). Martin Liqueiro, a Caldwell, New Jersey, high school boy, was third, also in 4:01.1, which ranks as No. 3 on the all-time prep list.

Ryun shoved back Michel

Jazy of France to third on the mile-a-thon at 3:53.6. Ryun also holds the No. 4 mark of 3:53.7.

There's no one in sight capable of extending Ryun. Perhaps he should challenge A. J. Foyt or switch to the pole vault.

Ryun said, "I'm quite satisfied with the race, especially the time. My goal is to hit a peak later in the season. I wasn't too happy with the 2:58 at the three-quarters mark. I need more speed work. But I am in better shape to improve than at this time last year."

The crowd of 22,705 had plenty of other things to cheer about as world-class achievements rolled out of the starting blocks like machine gun fire.

USC's 440-yard relay team not only ran world class, but world best.

Racing against better-time teams from Texas Southern and UCLA, the Trojans took the lead off Earl McCullough's opening leg, Lennox Miller lost two yards to Southern's Jim Hines on the anchor, but he had two to spare at the tape.

USC was clocked in 39.6, deadlocking the world record established by Southern U. in 1966 and tied by UCLA this year. Texas Southern was second in 40.0, the Striders third in 40.1, UCLA fourth in 40.2.

Trojan spokesman O. J. Simpson lamented, "While we are all happy, there's no doubt we can go faster. The track was heavy and the wind was cold. I'm sure we can get down at least three more tenths."

Hines enjoyed a remarkable evening.

He won the 100 meters handily in 10.2, came back to trip Tommie Smith at 220 yards in 20.5.

"I had a poor start in the Hines Best of Meet.

Sprinter Jim Hines of Texas Southern was selected outstanding athlete of the meet.

100," said Hines, "and didn't take the lead until after about 60 yards. No, I wasn't worried about Miller then. When I got the lead I figure I have the race won."

Hines led Smith, the world record holder, by three yards coming off the curve, but Smith closed it to about three inches at the wire.

Gaston Roelants of Belgium won the steeplechase in 8:39.8, only three yards in front of America's new hope, Pat Traynor, 8:40.2.

"I'm happy with the race, considering it was my first of the season," gasped Roelants. "The American boys run better every year. Traynor ran a very good race."

Ron Clarke of Australia captured his specialty;

SMALL

Terry Small, who has never been seriously threatened, and Dick Mortenson, and Dick Clover, who has been involved in two extra-hole matches, are favored today in the semifinals of the 43rd Long Beach City Golf Championships at El Dorado.

Small, from Virginia CC, will face 19-year-old Steve Cook of City College, and Clover, from California CC, will battle 47-year-old Skylinks veteran Ed McBratney.

Tee off time is 1 p.m. The winners play a 36-hole final on Sunday, starting at 9 a.m.

Small has not romped in his four wins, but he has never trailed on the back nine either. The former NCCA champ from San Jose State has ousted Bob Stanger, 4 and 3; Larry Davidson, 2 and 1; Gus Pavao, 1 up; and Don Donahue, 2 and 1.

Clover, 34, barely survived his first match, coming from four down at the turn to whip John Nichols on the 21st hole, and in his third hole he was extended 22 holes before beating Al Wells.

In between, the two-time former champion (1960-61) whipped Bill Hamilton, 3 and 1.

The champion receives $100 in merchandise and a year's free pass on the Long Beach municipal courses.

Hill's 66 Leads Tee Pack by 4

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Boys-lucking Dave Hill continued his mastery of the tough Colonial Country Club course Friday, firing a 4-under-par 66 to take a four-stroke lead in his bid for top prize of $20,000 in the $100,000 Memphis Open.

Hill's second-round finish gave the 30-year-old unattached pro from Jackson, Mich., a 36-hole total of 131, the second lowest on the PGA tour this year.

His closest challengers were South African Gary Player (67-68-135), Australian Bruce Crampton, (69-68-135), and Chuck Courtney, a 27-year-old native of La Jolla, Calif., (70-65-135).

Playing the back nine first, Hill had consecutive birdies on 16, 17 and 18 but still said he was not hitting the ball as well as he had on Thursday.

"I was lucky to shoot it," he said. "I didn't hit the shots as well as yesterday and I was a little tight."

"I hit more greens today, but I wasn't as confident. I hit a couple of sour-looking iron shots."

Long Beach (UPI)—The Oceanport Handicap at Monmouth Park has been divided into two sections in which Canal and Country Friend will attempt to repeat their victories in the split 1966 race. This is a five-furlong sprint.

Canal is top weight with 121 pounds, including jockey Bill Mayorga, in the first division, to be run as the seventh race. The veteran Chicot, 122, with Sandino Hernandez up, is the heavy-weight in the second division in which Country Friend is in with 119 pounds.

Ask The Fare, fifth in the Kentucky Derby and seventh in the Preakness, will tote 123 pounds in the $31,590 Kent Stakes at Delaware Park, a 1-1/4-mile race for 3-year-olds with a field of 15.

The $20,000-added Michigan Derby Trial Handicap at Hazel Park, a one mile drawn a field of nine.
